Course description

Course overview:

This course is designed for graduated students enrolled in the Department of Physics. The course will help students at both basic and intermediate levels develop their foundation of Japanese language skills and understand Japanese society and culture, thereby allowing them to adjust to life in Japan. The students will practice basic grammar from 12:30 ~13:30 and speaking and writing on the topic of the day from 13:40 ~14:45.

Daily preparation and review

This course uses 'Learn Japanese Online', a 30-lesson online course that introduces important sentence patterns for basic-level Japanese, and each lesson includes dialogue videos showing conversational scenes, grammar lecture videos, written explanations in English of the sentence patterns, and a variety of exercises with automatic grading and instant feedback. The classroom provides communicate-oriented activities to enable students to use the expressions they learn. For your effective learning, you are expected to:

1. Watch the grammar lecture videos(5~10min.)for the unit indicated in the schedule in advance.
2. Learn the vocabulary of the unit in advance.
3. Do the speaking, writing, and listening exercises at your own pace.

As there are only 13 classroom sessions in this course, only a limited number of very important sentence patterns will be introduced. If you want to learn more or if you are at intermediate level and want to review the basics, you are encouraged to access the other units and work on your own.

Attend every class (if you have to miss a class, inform the office in advance).
