

2 March, 2020

Precaution regarding Novel Coronavirus

Infection of Novel Coronavirus is reported to be spreading from the end of last month. Even though alert has already been announced by the University and the Graduate School of Science, the Department of Physics once again reminds you to read the information as below. We sincerely ask each lab to disseminate it to all members in your lab.

1. If you have fever or cold-like symptoms, please refrain from going to school or work and observe your condition.
2. Washing hands, using hand-sanitizer and wearing masks are recommended as basic preventive measures.
3. Please consider to cancel or postpone non-emergent conferences and seminars.
4. Please encourage to use staggered commuting and telework.
5. Should you feel the symptoms likely to be infected, please contact the Physics Administration Office.

Satoshi Yamamoto
Chair, Department of Physics